

I implore you to deny The Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) challenge to Indiana's Telephone Privacy law. Indiana's law has stopped "supertime" intrusive calls and unwanted calls through day and night.

As an example, my 92 year old mother struggles to answer phone calls. She has no desire to receive pre-recorded telemarketing calls. While she has a portable phone now, for years I watched her struggle to get to the phone because, for most of her life, it was a means of personal communication.
